ABOUT DIANA

Diana Bien-Aime is a 27-year old Haitian American born in Nyack, New York. She received her bachelors of science degree from the University of Florida in 2001. She later attended Barry University where she earned a masters degree in organizational communications.

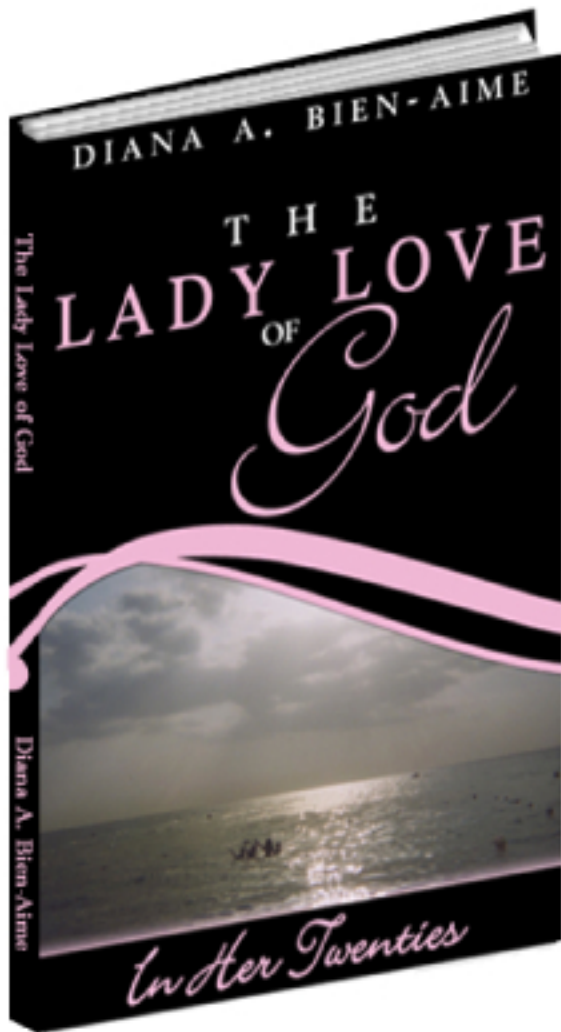

If you should ask Diana what she believes in, her response would be the following: " I believe Christ. All other beliefs are subject to debate." Diana is an active member of the Antioch Missionary Baptist Church in Carol City. She is a member of the Diaconate ministry, the lead servant of the New Disciples Teachers ministry and a First Friend. She has completed mission trips to Haiti, where her church has partnered with a local church and orphanage in Port Au Prince, Haiti.

For the past four years, Diana has been an adult basic education teacher at Hallandale Adult Community Center. She is certified in English and teaches all areas of the GED exam. When Diana is not teaching, she is hosting weddings, writing poetry and books that will inspire young Christian women. Her most recent publication is the Lady Love of God; In Her Twenties. Diana's aim is to inspire young women around the nation to live the life that Christ has predestined. She is a motivational speaker that has traveled to multiple local churches, elementary, middle and high schools to share the insight that Christ has entrusted in her.

As a student at the University of Florida, Diana was a National Merit Scholar and Florida Bright Futures Scholarship recipient. She was very involved in student government and the performing arts. Diana was the director of the student government cabinet, STAAR (Students Taking Action Against Racism), the vice president of the Institute of Black Culture Emissaries, and the chosen director for the black female extravaganza that showcases the talent of the thousands of black women on UF's campus.

Diana has been gifted as an Author, Poet, Emcee/Host, and Motivational Speaker.

THE LADY LOVE OF GOD

The Lady Love of God is the answer to challenging questions that many young and older women ponder on once or more through their lifetime.

- Who Am I?
- What do I think of me?
- Do I love myself?
- What should I be doing with my time?
- Who's opinion really matters?
- And much more...

Our answers are often predicated on what the world thinks of us. However, the most important question that should be asked to answer every other question is, "What thus saith the Lord about you on this day?"

Unlike any other self help book, The Lady Love of God answers these questions as it points away from our perspective of self to God's intended purpose for His daughters. Diana's prayer is that this book will bless you in the knowledge of Christ and enable you to walk out His destiny for your life one day at a time.

The Lady Love of God will help you walk out His destiny for your life boldly and without fear, because you are The Lady Love of God.

Proclamations of a Woman

*I'm going to state it now, and make it clear
You shall not cry one more unnecessary tear
Drops of pain will not stain your blouse
Streamlines of hurt will not allow you to abort your process
Visualize and recognize the madness for what it is
You will not have to drop your classes or your dreams to pursue
A career in failure*

*You will not stand idly while someone strips you of your joy
You will not wear fake smiles and use God's people as decoys...*

(excerpt from the Lady Love of God)

I SURVIVED FOR A REASON...

YOU ARE SURVIVING FOR A REASON!

Sometimes the only press you get is when you have suffered a tragedy or have been listed in the obituary section of the local newspaper. The time has come for you to know how much more there is to life than being acknowledged by others for your great looks, career success or material possessions. There may be some truth to the saying; bad press is better than no press, because your greatest tragedy can become your greatest triumph. However, it requires that you know whose you are and who you are.

*I bled internally, and have permanent scarring on my face and body....
but I chose to survive.*

I am one of the survivors of that awful car accident covered in the attached news article. That car tumbled over three times. I was ejected through the back window upon the second tumble. I bled internally, and have permanent scarring on my face and body. At the age of 12, I had to endure not feeling pretty enough. I felt I would never be desirable. I was insecure and thought I could never overcome such a tragedy that I felt took something away from me. My understanding was limited. There was purpose in this tragedy. Everyone survived. I chose to survive with physical scars, BUT TO DISCARD THE EMOTIONAL SCARS. Since that tragedy, I knew firsthand what it was to be a child of GOD....THE LADY AND THE LOVE OF GOD.

Experience what it is to live a life of freedom, love and joy. It is possible, yet unfathomable by man. No eye has seen, no ear has heard, no mind has conceived what God has prepared for those who love him. That includes the ability to experience such in your lifetime. Stop thinking about it and begin to live it.

SERVICES

Motivational Speaker - Women within the age group of 18-25 have been overlooked. That is the most defining stage of a woman's life as she is no longer legally a child, and lacks the life skills to be labeled an adult. Diana is able to share her life experiences through poetic expression to encourage all young women.

Discussion topics will include the following:

- the art of being still
- effective communication
- appropriate relationships for single women
- career decisions
- self-esteem
- forgiveness
- community responsibility
- substance abuse
- physical abuse

These candid in-depth discussions bring these issues and other relevant topics to the forefront for true healing and clarity.

Communications Facilitator - Most businesses do not experience long term success because of one major factor- lack of communication. Communication encompasses more than just advertising, public relations, and marketing to the external public. It requires the consciousness of self and the connection we have to each other far beyond being employees. The love of people over the love of power is what creates longevity in a business, whether it be a profit or not-for-profit business.

Workshops focus on the following:

- writing mission statements and executing mission statements
- leadership identification and development
- self analyses of effective communication
- the priority of serving the customer

These workshops are designed to promote a fun and interactive learning experience that will enhance creativity and production.

Emcee/host - The intended atmosphere of an event, whether it be a wedding, step-show, banquet, recital, or church play depends on the personality conveying the spirit of the organizers. Diana is available to attentively evaluate and meet those needs. Over ten years of public speaking has allowed Diana the opportunity to connect to a variety of audiences, including yours!
